Home Meridian International Opens New Headquarters in High Point

(HIGH POINT, NC) – Home Meridian International, a Furniture Today Top 20 furniture supplier, unveiled its new corporate headquarters at a grand opening party today. The 20,000 square foot, state-of-the-art facility is located at 3980 Premier Drive in High Point.

Home Meridian selected the City of High Point for its new corporate headquarters last summer. George Revington, the company's president and CEO, said the new facility is home for its senior managers and also serves as a "world class design, sourcing and marketing center for each of the company's strategic marketing units."

Revington said High Point was the ideal location for the company's headquarters. "High Point is the 'Home Furnishings Capital of the World' and we will be able to take advantage of the tremendous resources here, from designers to photography studios to an experienced pool of talent from which to recruit," Revington said.

Home Meridian was formed in 2006 with the merger of Pulaski Furniture and SLF (Samuel Lawrence Furniture). The company's other strategic marketing units are SLH (Samuel Lawrence Hospitality), which sells contract and hospitality products, and Creations, a producer of juvenile furnishings.

In addition to the new High Point office, Home Meridian has operations in Phoenix, Arizona; Pulaski, Virginia; and Madison, North Carolina, where it has more than 1 million square feet of distribution space. The company also has more than 90,000 square feet of showroom space in High Point and 25,000 square feet in Las Vegas. Home Meridian's international locations include facilities in Dongguan, China, and Ho Chi Minh, Vietnam.

Virginia-based Pulaski Furniture is known for leadership in design and integrated marketing. Pulaski's portfolio of licensed and proprietary brands includes Antiques Roadshow [™] Collection; Casa Cristina, based on the Latin Media sensation, Cristina Saralegui; Accentrics, a full line accent program; Keepsakes, a full line curio program; and Keepsakes Home, a recently-launched series of promotional bedrooms. Debuting at the fall furniture Market in High Point will be a newly licensed Build-A-Bear Workshop® HOME Collection.
